SCOTT'S C'EST MAGNIFIQUE EXPERIENCE ON OCEANIA VISTA'S CHRISTENING SAILING

Honored is an understatement. In May I was invited to the Christening & Naming Ceremony of one of the cruise industry's newest members: Oceania Vista!

We sailed from Rome to Valletta, Malta in complete bliss. The Vista unveiled herself to a ship full of press, investors and industry leaders – and she did not disappoint!

The Ship

The Vista is the first of a new class of vessels for Oceania. Slightly larger than the O Class ships; Marina and Rivera, the A Class ships are slightly larger but carry fewer guests. This gives an already spacious ship even more room to move around and just feels much more luxurious. The layout is very similar, and many of the venues carry the same names, so for past Oceania guests it's familiar. But better.

The Deliciousness

Oceania has always prided themselves as offering "the finest cuisine at sea". Vista takes that to the next level in multiple ways. Many of our favorites are still there, including Toscana, Red Ginger, and Polo Grill. Some exciting new concepts quickly became the talk of the ship. We were excited to dine in Ember with our Oceania Cruises rep, and experience this new restaurant and its elegant take on American Classic Dishes. Another new restaurant is Aquamarine Kitchen. It features wellness inspired indulgence up on the open air pool deck. Cold pressed juices and energy bowls in the morning, to hearty salads, wraps and tuna tacos in the afternoon and evening. This was a new venue that everyone loved!

The Culinary Center

From an experience perspective, we explored the idea that cuisine is not just about the eating, but the learning, preparing and the sharing. The Vista elevates The Culinary Center, building on the School at Sea on the Riviera and Marina. There are more hands-on cooking spaces and, as always, led by some of the best chefs and instructors in the world. C'est Magnifique!

Magnificent is also the only way to describe the staterooms and bathrooms. Spacious, stylish and comfortable is what I kept hearing from my peers throughout the week. My favorite was the completely redesigned bathrooms with walk in marble showers, everything with LOTS of room. No bumping into cabinets or drawers - just perfect!

The Ceremony

We arrived in Valletta, Malta for an overnight stop for the main event: the christening. Throughout the day we saw the pier transform into a venue suited for a royal wedding or a star-studded event - and that it was!

Come nightfall we were escorted ashore for the main event. Frank Del Rio Jr., Chairman of Oceania Cruises, along with Harry Sommer, reminisced about the 20-year history of the cruiseline and the industry's evolution. It was a beautiful moment with talk of family, punctuated by Frank Del Rio taking over the helm from his father.

The excitement built as Giada De Laurentis, the aptly chosen Godmother, started the countdown to the christening. Finally, a thunderous crash as the jeroboom of Veuve Clicquot crashed against the hull and officially named the ship.

But it wasn't over! We went out with a bang. Harry Connick Jr. took to the stage, punctuated by an amazing fireworks show over the historic old city of Valletta. What a magical night to welcome this amazing vessel. We know you're going to love her!

BUILDS LOYALTY

Doug and I went on our first Lindblad Expedition cruise to Antarctica last year. I was so excited because we had clients who loved Lindblad and I soon learned they had reason to! When writing this newsletter I realized that while I thought our cruise was amazing, I had only cruised once so why not reach out to the real experts who cruise over and over on Lindblad. The story below is in their own words. They have now completed 5 Lindblad Expeditions—one with the whole family to the Sea of Cortez—and are booked from South Georgia to Cape Town in 2024. Thanks to Barry and Michele for sharing their love of Lindblad with all our clients! ~ Bonnie “Ever since our trip to Galapagos in 2014, we’ve been loyal Lindblad customers. As one of the earliest innovators in expedition travel, Lindblad brings unparalleled expertise to their itineraries, allowing the crew to be flexible under changing conditions. We have always believed decisions are made to provide the best possible experience for the passengers.

We’ve found Lindblad’s affiliation with National Geographic to be a huge bonus. Renowned National Geographic Explorers and authors are often on board. The ships are always staffed with certified photography experts and the naturalists are unfailingly enthusiastic and deeply knowledgeable. Wherever we’ve gone, Lindblad seems to have long-term local relationships, giving passengers access to amazing experiences.

The ship’s small size allows everyone easy access and provides an open and welcoming experience. With Lindblad, we’ve been able to hike through penguin colonies on Antarctica, watch polar bears navigate ice flows in the Arctic, swim with the sea lions in the Galapagos, and have close encounters with many species of whales. But we’ve also made friends in Inuit villages and South Pacific atolls, gaining insight into their lifestyles and challenges. We’re always looking forward to our next Lindblad voyage!” ~ Barry & Michelle

ALEXANDER+ROBERTS®

75 Years of Original Journeys

Small Groups of Never More than 16 Guests

I think it is safe to say that few people like being part of a crowd. When you travel on a small group tour with A + R, you will never feel like you are part of the herd. With only 16 guests you will soon meet everyone and friendships will follow. There is a lot more personal attention and the pace is perfectly structured. You will have remarkable guides who are raised in the land you are exploring and with their native born cultural sensitivity you will have a true insider's experience.

Alexander + Roberts offers unforeseen opportunities around every corner—what a great way to see this wonderful world!

Grandeur of Iceland

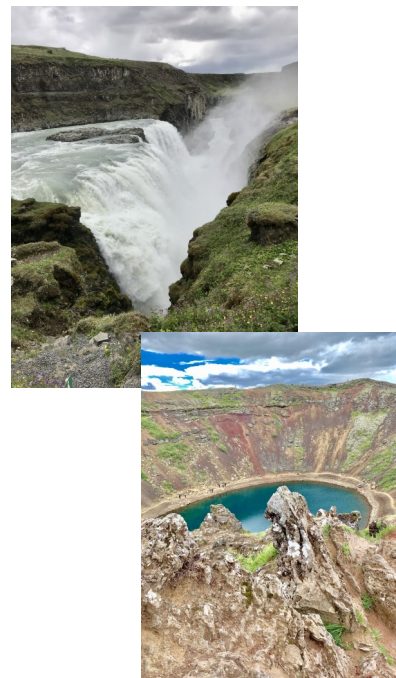

I can personally attest to the beauty of Iceland. While we were only there overnight, it allowed us the opportunity for a full day Golden Circle Tour out of Reykjavik. The pictures at the right are from our fantastic day which only made us want to see more!

The Grandeur of Iceland tour with A + R is 9 days. Following your first night in Reykjavik, you will fly to coastal Akureyri to explore this adorable town. Continue to Husavik where a guided marine expedition offers a chance to observe minke, humpback, blue and sperm whales as well as dolphins and many Arctic birds. Returning to Akureyri, you will spend two nights at the Hotel Kea.

The following days take you to marvel at the spectacular Godafoss—"Waterfall of the Gods," a 10th century farmstead and a charming fishing village. On a private Golden Circle Tour from Thingvellir National Park you will be thrilled to see two of Iceland's most famous geological wonders—the Strokkur Geyser and Golden Waterfall! Between Ice caves, beaches, thundering waterfalls and the Blue Lagoon, your days will be filled with some of the most magical scenery on the planet.

There is no doubt that your Iceland tour with Alexander + Roberts will provide beauty beyond belief. Tour dates are late April to early September, so call today! ~ Bonnie

Wild + Wonderful Alaska

Many times when people think of visiting Alaska, they think cruise. And, while a cruise is wonderful, it just touches the surface of the true Alaska. Being able to explore the interior of this magnificent state will be an enriching experience.

The tour begins with two nights in Fairbanks where you will experience nearly 24 hours of daylight! This gives you plenty of time to see the Trans-Alaska Pipeline and visit a ranch in the Goldstream Valley where you will join the owner and her reindeer to explore the boreal forest.

Leaving Fairbanks, you will board the deluxe dome rail to Denali National Park. Here you can search for grizzly, moose, caribou, Dali sheep and wolves. After two nights in Denail, you will again board the train on to Talkeetna where—fingers crossed—you will be able to view the magnificent Mt. McKinley. Weather permitting, I highly recommend an optional flightseeing tour around Denali's 20,000-foot peak.

After your two nights in Talkeetna, you will continue south to Girdwood, Alaska—home to Mt. Alyeska. In the Matanuska-Susitna Valley you will discover the land of pure Alaska wilderness! Girdwood offers views of 7 glaciers from the Aerial Tram at the peak of 2300 foot Mt. Alyeska. During your stay at the Alyeska Lodge in Girdwood, you will enjoy a Kenai Fjords marine expedition to search for bald eagles and other wildlife. In Seward you will enjoy an afternoon cruise into Resurrection Bay and Kenai Fjords National Park—home to calving glaciers and marine life.

Sadly your tour ends after the two nights in Girdwood and you will fly home from Anchorage. We rarely have anyone go to Alaska only once, and I have no doubt that this tour will only make you want to see more of the majestic beauty Alaska has to offer.

THE RETREAT—AN EXCLUSIVE LUXURY RESORT AT SEA
ALL SUITES. ALL INCLUSIVE.

Because sometimes you have to hear about something lots of times before you decide to check it out, we're hoping this time's the charm! The Retreat class is a dreamy "luxury resort-style" solution for guests who want the amenities of a big ship, but desire the intimacy, inclusions and luxury of a small ship. In addition to spacious and opulent suites, guests enjoy premium Wi-Fi, ship-wide premium drinks, exclusive dining, gratuities, and more.

Something we love the most: priority check-in and embarkation, plus priority access to onboard amenities and activities. These type of perks make for a more seamless and enjoyable experience.

TIP: Because The Retreat offers a luxury experience on a premium product.. Celebrity is a great option for group travel with mixed price points (friends, multi-gen, book clubs... you get the idea!)

Celebrity Edge is coming to Alaska in 2024! This is a BIG deal because it is the first time she'll be on the West Coast—the perfect chance to be a "pampered pioneer" to the Final Frontier. How exciting!

LET'S TALK CRUISETOURS... To experience Alaska's full breadth of wildlife and majesty, there is no better way to compliment an Alaskan cruise than with a land program featuring a remote roads & rail journey. Ask your Legendary World travel advisor about Cruisetour options. Also new for Alaska 2024- Premium Cruisetours!

Premium cruisetours offer an elevated experience with upgraded hotel rooms with a view, and breakfast & gratuities included. There is no underestimating the value of a room with a view! These are geared towards our Retreat guests but anyone can purchase.

EXPLORA JOURNEYS - HERE WE COME!

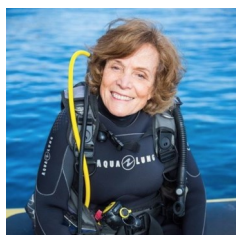

We have been sharing our excitement about this luxury new entry to the cruise industry for over a year now, and the time is here to experience her for the first time!

The cruise line and the ship may be brand new, but the privately held family business has a maritime history dating back to the 17 century when the ancestors of the current ownership started plying the routes in and out of Naples, Italy to the surrounding regions. Explora Journeys is the Luxury Cruise brand of internationally known MSC Shipping Group. I am sure you have seen their ships and containers around the world. They now bring that history and maritime experience to creating what is expected to be one of the most amazing new lines in the last few decades.

Explora Journeys is looking to remake the way we look at Cruising, and presents itself more as a luxury boutique hotel, that travels the world instead of being stuck in one location. The accommodations are second to none and the smallest suite starts at 377 square feet, in addition to larger penthouses and residences, including the magnificent Owners Residence that stretches the width of the ship and is over 3000 sq. ft. including the spacious terrace with lap pool. You will not find a purser onboard but a General Manager. Instead of a dining room, you will find no less than 9 restaurants onboard, and all but one has no additional fee.

Entry Level Terrace Suite (377 sq. ft.)

EXPLORA I GODMOTHER: DR SYLVIA EARL

World-renowned oceanographer, explorer, and conservationist, will be the Godmother of its first ship

Dr. Earle is a celebrated pioneer of deep-sea exploration and has dedicated her life to ocean conservation. She has been a vocal advocate for protecting the world's oceans and marine life, and her expertise and leadership have been recognized globally. Dr. Earle's involvement with Explora Journeys underscores the brand's commitment to sustainable travel at sea.
